CLINIMINDS CELEBRATES NATIONAL DOCTORS DAY 2016

NEW DELHI / NOIDA, 2 July 2016 – In order to promote clinical research amongst the doctors, on the occasion of National Doctors Day 2016, Cliniminds offered the ICH GCP Certification Program in Clinical Research for Medical Practitioners free of cost. Program registration is open till 2nd July 2016.

Program covers the fundamentals of clinical research, conduct and management of clinical trials, regulatory issues, roles and responsibilities of investigators and other key stakeholders, ethical conduct of clinical trials, essential documents, drug safety reporting and several other topics.

Over 100 doctors have joined the program in one day. This indicates the increasing awareness of clinical research in the medical community.

At the end of the program, all program participants would receive the Certification upon completion of online GCP exam.

On this important occasion, Mr. Kamal Shahani, Managing Director, Cliniminds said that Cliniminds would continue to create awareness about clinical research and pharmacovigilance amongst the medical practitioners and help create certified/trained clinical trials medical practitioners.

Cliniminds has been at the forefront of health sciences professional education and training since 2004, and trained over 6,000 professionals in various health sciences domain, including clinical trials, pharmacovigilance, clinical data management, biostatistics, medical & scientific writing, drug regulatory affairs, pharmaceutical medical affairs and several other areas.
