I am pleased to announce that Cliniminds again has been awarded as the Best Clinical Research & Health Sciences Business Management Institute in India for the year 2015 by ASSOCHAM, India. We were pitching against all our major competitors again this year. This Award is an important token of appreciation for our commitment towards developing superior human resources and skill development for the clinical research industry, pharmacovigilance and health sciences industry, and providing excellent education and employment opportunities to our students.

Please join me in congratulating entire Team Cliniminds for this achievement and hope to receive many more accolades and recognition for the work we are doing for the society.
